

Dr. Bikash Chandra Dash, Assistant Professor, M.A., M.Phil., Ph.D. joined the Department of Political Science, Assam University Diphu Campus in the year 2007. His area of interest includes governance and public policy, gender studies, political theory and research methodology. He did his doctorate from Institute For Social and Economic Change (ISEC), Bangalore on governance issues of power sector and reforms. His M.Phil dissertation is on Political Participation and Women Empowerment in the Local Self Government. He has got several publications in national and international journals including a book to his credit. Presently running an ICSSR, New Delhi sponsored major research project on Policy and Performance of Assam Power Sector. He has made paper presentations in several national and international seminars.

Email: bikashsh@gmail.com

Phone: 9401399267

Selected publications

1. Migration and Identity: A Study of Chakma and Hajong Communities in North East India, The Assam Valley International A Journal of Humanities and Cultural Studies, vol 2 (1) (ISSN No. 23200324) January 2013 (sole author)
2. Impact of Power Sector Reforms Service Quality, Equity and Efficiency: A Study of Odisha Power Sector, in Arun Mohanty et al (edited) Contemporary Odisha Realities and Vision, 2011, with ISBN 978-93-80376-79-0, AXIS Publications, New Delhi. (research paper published in an edited book) (sole author)
3. “Governance Reforms in Infrastructure: State and Market Perspectives” published in Indian Journal of Political Science, Vol. LXX, No. 1, Jan.- Mar., 2010 (co-author)
4. ‘Information Communication Technology, Governance and Service Delivery in India: A Critical Review’, Indian Journal of Public Administration, VOL. LIV, NO.1, January-March, 2008. (co-author)
5. “Civil society Initiatives and Electoral Reforms”, Economic and Political Weekly, Vol. XXXIX (37), 2004. (sole author)

6. 'Governance of the Power Sector: Orissa's Experiments with Village Electricity Committees' Economic and Political week, XLI (3), 2006 (sole author)
7. 'Does Good Governance Matter for the Equitable Distribution of Electricity? An Analysis of the Indian Case', Indian Journal of Political Science, LXVII (3) June-September, 2006. (sole author)

Book(s) Published

- Governance and Reforms in Power Sector: A Study of Policy Impact on Equity, Efficiency and Service Delivery in Odisha, Lambert Academic Publishing, Germany, ISBN- 978-3-8473-1253-6, 2012. (sole –author)