

Dr. Rajesh Seth, Assistant Professor, M.A.(Utkal), M.Phil, P.hd(JNU) joined the Department of Political Science, Assam University, Diphu campus as an assistant professor on 10th March 2011. Dr Seth has worked on J.S.Mill's concept of liberty in his M.Phil. while his Ph.D. work is based on an analysis of the existence of two variants of liberalisms in Indian constitution. His area of interest includes political theory, Indian government and politics, theoretical aspects of contemporary politics in India. He has presented a paper titled 'Liberal Landscape in Indian Constitution: The Fundamental Rights" in a workshop organized by Centre for Study of Developing Societies (CSDS), Delhi. Dr. Seth has presented seminars and chaired session at various seminars. Dr Seth is currently contemplating on the critical aspects of the functioning of democracy in India.

Email: rajeshseth75@rediffmail.com

Mob-(0)9435317611