ACADEMIC DEPARTMENTS

RABINDRANATH TAGORE SCHOOL OF LANGUAGES & CULTURAL STUDIES

DEPARTMENT OF LINGUISTICS

The Department of Linguistics came into being in 1995 with the aim of developing a better understanding of language study and linguistics. With the diverse linguistic scenario in North East India providing its backdrop, the thrust of the department's endeavour has been on analyzing the languages of North East India with special reference to the languages of South Assam. The department is also giving importance to the study of endangered languages of the North East India as a lot of minority languages are spoken in this part of the country which is considered to be endangered so that we can do something meaningful to preserve these. All the North Eastern languages show dialectal variations which need to be studied structurally as well as sociolinguistically. Such studies would help the standardization of languages and pave the ways for their use in education and other fields of socio-cultural life of North East India. Keeping this in view, the department has developed its course curriculum in such a way so as to enable students at the Post Graduate level to acquire special knowledge to take up independent researches in future on various languages and their recent developments.

CENTRE FOR BIODIVERSITY AND NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVATION

Aim and Objectives of the Centre

Biological diversity is fundamental to the fulfilment of human needs. An environment which is rich in biological diversity, offers the broadest array of options for sustaining human welfare and for adapting to change. The Barak Valley falling in Assam in the Northeast India belongs to the Indo-Burma Hotspots, and one of the most biological diverse regions of the world. Barak Valley constitutes 8.9% geographical area of the state covering an area of 6922 sq km. The land use/land cover area of the Valley may be characterized by evergreen forest, semi evergreen forest, mixed moist deciduous forest, scrub forest, degraded forest, agricultural land and tea plantations. Barak Valley has 14 Reserve Forests (RFs) and one Wildlife Sanctuary (WLS). The Valley is richly endowed with plant and animal resources, which needs to be managed on a sustainable basis to serve as the main driver of development in the area. The sustainable development of any area depends on the proper utilization of its natural resources.

Keeping the above in view, the Assam University, Silchar being the highest academic institute in the region, advocated for the establishment of a Centre for Biodiversity and Natural Resources Conservation in the University. The Centre attached to the department of Ecology & Environmental Science is mandated to carry out research works pertaining to biodiversity conservation and effective and scientific management of the natural resources of the valley with the following aim and objectives:

- To study the ecology and conservation of flora and fauna of Barak Valley.
- To study the landscape ecology in the Barak Valley.
- To study the natural resource utilization pattern and management by the traditional communities of Barak Valley.
- To study the biophysical parameters in major ecosystems.
- To document indigenous knowledge system of the region.
