ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

Turning scholarly discovery into smarter research pathways

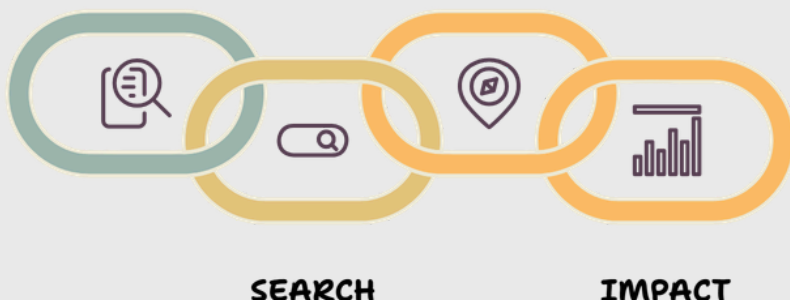

In an increasingly digital research environment, effective discovery and navigation of scholarly information are essential for researchers. The programme was organised to familiarise the academic community of Assam University with the research discovery capabilities of Scopus and demonstrate its practical applications in scholarly research.

THE RESEARCH JOURNEY

INSIDE THE SCOPUS SESSION

Exploring smarter pathways to research discovery

The orientation introduced participants to the research discovery capabilities of Scopus and its practical use in locating, refining and exploring scholarly information. Through guided demonstrations, participants were familiarised with key search options and tools available on the platform.

Scopus interface demonstrated during the orientation session.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS GAINED?

A practical understanding of how Scopus can support efficient scholarly discovery and research exploration.

From Search To Discovery

A Live Demonstration of Scopus in Action

The session moved from explanation to application as Dr. Nitin Ghoshal demonstrated Scopus through live, practical searching. Participants were introduced to search fields, result refinement and available tools for retrieving more precise and relevant research information.

From live searching to relevant retrieval

the session connected Scopus features with practical research needs.

Learning Beyond THE LECTURE

Interaction, participation and learning together

The programme moved beyond conventional instruction through an engaging quiz and interactive discussion. Participants actively responded to questions, shared their understanding and engaged with the session in an energetic learning environment.

A lively quiz session tested participants' understanding of the concepts discussed during the programme, encouraging active recall and engagement.

The quiz was followed by a brief digital feedback session, allowing participants to share their learning experiences and reflections.

A NOTE OF GRATITUDE

Bringing the programme to a thoughtful close

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Dr. Tuhina Choudhury Debroy, Professional Assistant, Rabindra Library, Assam University, Silchar. She expressed gratitude to the dignitaries, the resource person, organisers, participants and all those who contributed to the successful conduct of the programme.
